

Mrs. Farha Deeba Haq Award – for a young scientist for Cancer Research

Mrs. Farha Deeba Haq

(December 16, 1968 — June 11, 2013)

Mrs. Farha Deeba Haq was an engineer by education from Aligarh Muslim University, Aligarh. Mrs. Haq was an ideal mother and devoted wife. She was an epitome of love, care, discipline and self-respect. She was beautiful, witty, highly intelligent, courageous and always immense fun to be with.

She looked at herself as someone who was doing what she thought was best for others. Mrs. Haq lost her battle against cancer and left for her heavenly abode on 11th June 2013. We know that death is the destiny of all immortals but the departure of Mrs. Haq is a big loss to her family. It will take a long time to overcome pain and to forget the great loss. She will always be deeply missed. This award has been instituted in her memory by her husband, Dr. Afrozul Haq.
